

GOING GREEN

If you have an energy-efficient home, then maybe you'd like to showcase it for the 361 Energy's 361 Green Doors event which is taking place on September 20-21.

Could your home inspire others?

361 Energy's 361 Green Doors 2014 event is to be held on September 20-21 in energy-efficient homes across North Devon.

The Green Open Homes event showcases energy-saving home improvements such as solid wall insulation, secondary glazing, biomass boilers, led lighting, solar panels or even proper draft proofing so that visitors can see the benefits for themselves.

From large architectural eco-homes to simple eco-renovations, 361 Green Doors hopes to welcome more homeowners to inspire others this year. John Woodward, of Saunton, who took part in the event last year, said: "It was a great opportunity for residents in the local area to see energy-efficiency improvements and technologies in actual homes, and talk to the homeowners about how well they work."

He went on to say: "It was also a great opportunity for me to tell people about my own architectural practice, and the skills we can offer people who are looking to do their own energy efficient refurbishment."

If you have completed a retrofit project and are willing to inspire other people to make energy saving refurbishments please contact info@361.org or call 01271 267197.

Maybe it's time you let North Devon Council do your dirty work!

WHETHER it's a guest house, bed and breakfast, office or shop in North Devon, local businesses are being reminded that they need to have a trade waste agreement in place to dispose of their waste and recycling correctly.

Although businesses can contact any independent waste carrier to do this, North Devon Council has extended its own services to take on more trade waste and recycling customers.

The council's competitive service covers the whole of North Devon, as well as Bideford, Torrington, Appledore, Northam and Westward Hol and can collect the following items from your business: cardboard, glass, plastic, paper, food cans and drink cans, general waste.

As part of the trade waste and recycling service, the council can provide businesses with various sized bins, with collections tailored to meet specific needs. The council can also offer businesses a free waste audit to help identify where savings can be made.

If businesses have a trade waste agreement (whether with the council or with another waste carrier), they can also bring their trade recycling to Brynsworth Environment Centre free of
